If I delete my shop and everything associated with it, to create a new one under a different name, will this affect any outstanding orders for any of the item from the store good point, although the Customer services actually said if I give them the new name they would be able to change it for me rather than having to delete everything, which is fine as that actually works out better for me

HI!

To answer this question: No, if you delete your shop and create a new one, it will NOT affect any current orders.
