The Tsuka 2 Stool arrives and it looks perfect in white, however another coloring issue by my side.Perhaps I should read the coloring guides here. See more stools here.

Nice! I like all of your designs! But maybe you could have put all of them in a single new topic?

Have you guys had any customers wanting to order the mini prints for the stool before or after they bought the real one?

after the clients buy the big one, they sometimes want a smaller one, especially if the client is an architect, they almost always want to receive the minis.

I tried to convince my former employer for years to purchase a 3D printer to do miniatures for models. Oh well their loss.
