A few months ago, Caia Koopman came to me about helping make her model printable. She had a sculpture 3D scanned, that had some holes that needed to be filled. After doing some different size sculptures and a pendant, we went with making the pendant better to sell. After sculpting, and smoothing, and enhancing details, and making the eyes into goggles, we had her piece.

sculptures in different sizes. The pendant is the small black one.

Full assortment of colors with the original sculpture in the background
If you'd like to buy one, they are currently $15 on Caia's site. Also check out her other works.
Hopefully we'll work together on more pieces in the future.

Nice sculpture and nice work.

I have a hunch they may not actually be 4mm tall, though ...

Hi Mike,
cool creepy art! Great stuff.

Besides, metric system works nice for me. Inch and feet is what makes me headache!

More cool creepy art to come, Caia has inspired me.
As for the metric system, such is the pain of being born and raised in the US .
