You don't see anything like this anywhere.
Two versions, one is larger than the other.
It is hollowed out in the middle, with a solid base (the ocean)

Can you add a photo of the actual printed object please ? (Among other things, this would allow others to see the FCS print quality for the various shades of blue and gray)

I moved this to work in progress. When you have pictures of a printed object, feel free to repost in the "Feature this" section.
