Subject: Made by Wombat dice!
Posted by gumball on Mon, 26 Jul 2010 22:27:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My latest order arrived today comprised mostly of Chuck Stover's Made by Wombat Dice.

Spore D6

Caltrop D4

MoirÃ© D6

File Attachments

1) IMG_1683.jpg, downloaded 872 times
2) IMG_1682.jpg, downloaded 877 times
3) IMG_1690.jpg, downloaded 1728 times
4) IMG_1686.jpg, downloaded 872 times
5) IMG_1689.jpg, downloaded 864 times

Subject: Re: Made by Wombat dice!
Posted by gumball on Mon, 26 Jul 2010 22:29:35 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ligature D6

File Attachments

1) IMG_1681.jpg, downloaded 854 times

Subject: Re: Made by Wombat dice!
Posted by Drawn-SteelHero on Tue, 27 Jul 2010 00:32:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Be careful with the D4... that and the Thorn dice (I think they're also Wombat's) look dangerous...

Andy

Subject: Re: Made by Wombat dice!
Posted by phoffman on Sat, 31 Jul 2010 19:48:34 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I purchased the Made By Wombat, Overstuffed Dice.

I inked them with acrylic paint. The dice are a little smaller than those produced by large manufacturers like Chessex. I have included some typical dice in the picture for comparison.

I like the way they feel and roll. When rolling them they rock n' roll before settling which is appealing. Even though the print suffered from a 'resume action' print error, it looks like post production did their best to clean that up.

File Attachments

1) MadeByWombat_Overstuffed.jpg, downloaded 707 times

Subject: Re: Made by Wombat dice!
Posted by Inlite on Sat, 31 Jul 2010 21:03:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love these dice, its almost enought to get me to dig out my old D&D books - I didnt know anyone still played table RPG games

---