Hey all,

For fun, I started a wiki to deal with managing all the info we are getting here and elsewhere about post processing 3d prints. It's sort of a test to see what you think.

Is this something you would want to help add to? Is the info useful to you in this structure?

I think that's a really good idea - thanks for being proactive about it! It's easy for stuff to get lost in this forum.

This wiki looks ideal - I've signed up and have some stuff I can add to the dye (SLS) section but don't have rights to do so.

Cheers
Sandy

Definately a good idea and I think this post should be "stickied" to stay at the top of the forum.
