Subject: Default material option
Posted by lensman on Sat, 11 Jun 2011 22:20:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Shapeways comes through again and I see you have now added a "Default Material" option on the model page. I have long wanted this in order to choose what material price is shown in the thumbnails when someone browses models; as I've said before if a user sees a ring at $30 in s/steel and another at $6 in WSF they may simply not bother clicking through on the s/s one.

Thanks.

Subject: Except ...
Posted by kontor_apart on Wed, 15 Jun 2011 14:59:17 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

does not work as advertised.

Subject: Re: Default material option
Posted by Youknowwho4eva on Wed, 15 Jun 2011 15:02:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

It appears to be a set refresh thing, I'll get Ben on it.

Subject: Re: Default material option
Posted by horst on Wed, 15 Jun 2011 15:29:14 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

lensman wrote on Sat, 11 June 2011 22:20Shapeways comes through again and I see you have now added a "Default Material" option on the model page. I have long wanted this in order to choose what material price is shown in the thumbnails when someone browses models...

I'm glad to hear you like this, Lensman! Thanks for the feedback.

Subject: Re: Except ...
Posted by horst on Wed, 15 Jun 2011 15:38:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

trompevenlo wrote on Wed, 15 June 2011 14:59Did anybody actually test it?
And no, it's neither cache nor VAT.

Yes, of course we tested it, and we did not see any problems like this in that process. I've shared your bug report with my QA team and they'll be analyzing it right away.

I appreciate you sharing bug and problem reports with us, but I do not think a sarcastic tone is beneficial on our forum. I want to encourage a welcoming environment and constructive conversation (including criticism). This is better for everybody involved.

-Ben