A couple of new models.. and some photos to do the design justice.

Hope you like it.

Is it all 3D printed (minus the ink, of course)?

the first pen is fully 3d printed (the spring is a separate file though, since I was afraid it would brake) and the second pen has a normal ballpoint pen spring harvested from another pen since the 3d printed spring did not fit in the model. In both cases minus the ink filling of course. i will try to upload some pictures of the parts separately next week.

A new picture of the parts separately. a standard ballpoint pen filling is used that can be bought from most office supply stores.

any questions remarks let me know
