

---

Subject: Hello From NY

Posted by MilsimTech on Thu, 11 Oct 2012 16:50:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hello everyone, just figured i'd introduce myself. My name is Justin, and i stumbled upon shapeways when i was looking into the rewrap projects. I'm starting a home business and i need to design custom parts. I figured instead of going out and trying to learn how to build a 3d printer, i should start with the software side of things first. Since that is usually my biggest downfall. Right now i have google sketchup pro, and have been thinking about getting accutrans so i can just build my parts through shapeways for now. My experience level 1 to 10, is probably somewhere around a 2 right now. But I'm hoping with the handy dandy search bar and the community, I can get the help i need to change that.