As part of a costume, I need to have a full-face helmet. It's a very strange size...

Some images of Zero:

It would most likely have to hinge at the top, and I'll worry about the electronics later (more my area of expertise). I'd need some advice for what material to print it out of. Ideally the front would be at least somewhat possible to see through.

I can provide head measurements, too. I'd like this thing to be as snug as possible. Please send estimates and any related work from your portfolio. I'd love to get working on this as soon as possible.
