I was uploading a few new models I made and everything was fine till I got to the last model that failed the autocheck. So I decided to use the netfabb program to see if I had made some mistakes somewhere but it did not find any. So I went and used heal and saved the repaired model just in case. When I went to upload the repaired version it still fails the upload.

I'm so confused, can someone help me on what the problem might be...the model is just a mask that meets the requirements.

Ty
