Based in North West London I'm a freelance modelmaker with a keen interest in rapid prototyping (3D printing, CNC machine and laser cutting included) and digital modelling, so if you have any designs or ideas kicking round, need anything built, assembled or finished off send me a message via here or through my website where you can find my portfolio:

I want to recommend Marsden's work to everyone. I just happend to had a small project with him, within which he did a brilliant model for me.

He works really fast and efficient, repeats to questions and request really fast and professional. Additionally he is really nice to work with on the personal level as well.
