

---

Subject: Centaur figure

Posted by rebeltoys on Sat, 06 Oct 2012 19:41:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

]Hello, It has been a while since being active on Shapeways, and can't believe the level of prints from just a few years ago. I have recently been helping people with their models and wanted to start uploading some of my own again. Here is a Centaur, 60mm in height. If anyone has any suggestions, or would like it at a specific height let me know. There is also a turntable on the Shapeways page. Hope you like it!

Best, mike

<http://www.shapeways.com/model/727603/centaur-60mm.html>

---

File Attachments

1) shapeways.jpg, downloaded 324 times

---

---

Subject: Re: Centaur figure

Posted by kiorodesign on Tue, 09 Oct 2012 11:26:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'm really impressed by your talent as a sculptor ...wonderful.

---

---

Subject: Re: Centaur figure

Posted by rebeltoys on Wed, 10 Oct 2012 14:03:19 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks Kiorodesign, hopefully people will enjoy it!

---

---

Subject: Re: Centaur figure

Posted by lensman on Fri, 12 Oct 2012 17:34:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yes, wonderful job. ZBrush, I assume? I'm always surprised I don't see more people from the ZBrush forums here on Shapeways.

Glenn

---

---

Subject: Re: Centaur figure
Posted by rebeltoys on Thu, 18 Oct 2012 02:41:01 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Thanks Glenn!

Yes it's zbrush work, I have also wondered why there isnt more here on Shapeways. Probably just depends on the figurine market here, I am not sure.

---

---

Subject: Re: Centaur figure
Posted by EmilyEstelle on Wed, 24 Oct 2012 05:13:40 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That is really amazing. What kind of material are you going to use on that? I love it.
~Emily~

---