This came yesterday in Full Color Sandstone:

and to show the scale...

There are more pictures on the model page: <http://www.shapeways.com/model/735211/>

Enjoy!

Nancy

PS. It was sculpted using Blender

PPS. and remember....

(you know what I'm talkin' about)

Wow, Sandstone was the right choice for that! Looks amazing!

Wow!!!

It would be fun to do a bit of photoshopping on the refelected image on the iPhone.. showing the angel in the attack position.

Awesome. Great work!
You did this in Blender? Wow! Did you tried Sculptris or Zbrush, too?

Haha! Great idea, Stony. Alas.. my Photoshopping skills are lacking.

My friend actually modeled this for me.. my modeling skills are also lacking. BUT! He is a big free & open source advocate so he prefers Blender. However, Sculptris does have mad sculpting tools.

I should soon have a model I made in sculptris to show off. Sculptris with a little blender mixed in can make some awesome hollow stuff.

love blender but i haven't got a computer fast enough to get the sculpting done. i prefer sculptris too for that.

would love to know who the artist friend is and possibly see a portfolio.

Love the pic with the iPhone reflection, very creepy, very well done.

B&W sandstone prints like this look exceptional.

I love it, even though the weeping angel episodes are usually not my favorites This could make a nice article for BlenderNation though - do you think your friend would like to write something for us?

You know where to reach me

Cheers,

Bart
