Awhile ago I had this printed for my hound dog, Dog bone dog tag. I had it done in Black S+F which I was concerned about how it would hold up being beaten about while chasing quarry. It has held up better than expected, it's still in one piece.

A friend has just become a dog owner and expressed interest in getting one printed for his dog "Rome" I modeled it up for him expecting him to get it in one of the S+F materials. Instead he had it done in Antique Bronze.

Wow, I am really liking the heft and texture. Now I am going to have to get Herbie's printed in antique bronze too.

As always, feedback is appreciated.

ps. The loop is over the CG, it hangs perfectly level.
