I received my newest design today and I'm super stoked with how it turned out!
It can be strung up on any necklace and, depending on your preference, it can face either way.

The pendant represents a surfer pulling into, or dropping into, an overhead barrel.

I've made it available to whomever might be interested...

You know, the design is great, but I think you're short changing yourself with the title... Personally I thought of something to do with a wine barrel and wasn't really tempted to have a look. Something with "surfer" in it may be clearer to customers?
