At least they are here in time

Hope my daughters will like them.

Very cute! What are they?

The way you said that at least they were here on time, sounds like you had an issue?

That are comic characters I've designed in youth. Now my daughters have taken them over drawing them for their and their friends fun ...

No but they have been expected delivery date one day before christmas so it wasn't guaranteed that they arrive in time.

Ah so an early Christmas arrival! I know the distribution centers have been pounding out shipments as fast as they can handle.
