I guess he got caught up in the Black Friday/Christmas rush, but after a panicked call to UPS to change the shipping away from my [closed-for-the-holidays] business address, he finally arrived today

As good as I had hoped, if not better, in Satin Black ceramic.

Do they laser etch all alien visitors? I like him more than the white version I think!

Ha ha!

It's the British Lion Mark - applied to most shop bought eggs in the UK as a mark of quality and a guarantee against (amongst other things) Salmonella (yes I'm googling this...)

I left in shot for a dose of reality!

That is really cool! Can it hold a spoon?

Thanks for the feedback guys...

Unfortunately, no, he can't hold a spoon. The renders may suggest that, but the reality is that the glaze narrows what gap there is between his thumb and fingers.

All I can say is 'watch this space'!

Love it. What is it about eggcups and us 3D printers? - I think we've all made them, haven't we? But this one beats them all, I think.

Hi Steven,

This is just great! So funny and the black texture you choose is perfect! I love it

Thank you all for the support!

The smiley is about the extent of my actual artistic talent...
