Hi everyone,

I was just wondering when Shapeways will be starting a Valentine's day promotion. It's annoying to see Valentine's displays the day after Christmas in physical stores, but people need lead time for ordering 3d printed items, so I expect your promotion will be starting soon.

Any word on when Valentine's day items will begin being featured?

Thank you.

Patience. After the new year we should be running at full speed again .

Thanks for the quick reply. I did not mean to imply that Shapeways was behind on promoting Valentine's day at all! I love what you all do, and I appreciate that you have all been working pretty hard to recover from hurricane damage.

As an aside, I teach high school math and science. After winter break, I will be teaching a 5-day intro to 3d modeling class. Students are quite excited about it, and they are fascinated to see what Shapeways is doing for the field of 3d printing. Thank you for everything you do!

I was just saying that it's in our discussions .

You should email Duann about your class as he's in charge of educations.
