Well, it came, and I painted it, and it looks just like I envisioned.

I only wish the UPS people had not left it in the middle of my front porch, two days after their scheduled delivery time, that they changed four times in the four days prior to its final delivery time.

I came back from being out of town, knowing it wasn't going to be there, and when I pulled up in my driveway, a man I had never seen before was on my porch, about to pick up my box. He saw me, ran away, and I absolutely despise UPS. I have neighbors they could have left it with.

The box was dented, as if it had been thrown on the porch.

Other than that, the printed model was exactly what I expected.

I'm so sorry to hear that! I'll pass along this complaint to our customer service team.

Would you care to share a picture of your pendant? I'm rather curious how it turned out

Bart

Would love to, but I left it at the lodge. It was a big hit, and everyone liked it.

We have a meeting this coming Tuesday, and I'll get it then.
