Hi everyone!

This is my first print which I made as a Christmas gift for my girlfriend. The text you see in the candle holder is a pattern of my and my girlfriends nicknames for each other, it says "gom<3gobb".

I just wanted to show you a great way to create a really fun gift for your loved ones, the possibilities are endless and all you have to think about is to have a hole above the light!

Here's a post about this project on my site if you would like to read more about it:
