Dear Shapies,

look what arrived

some of the parts needed some grinding and fine tuning to make them al fit and work properly. It seems that the tolerances in printing steel are a lot different then those of plastic.

some more eye candy:

feel free to commend what you think of it

Thanks Rick Minkes | Apartja

These are awesome!

I love 3D modifications to everyday stuff, and the photos are great too

I must admit I have a soft spot for pens and these look awesome!

Be sure to make the metal ones available for sale when you sort out the tolerance issues.

Nice, just be aware that anyone using the plated metal ones every day will soon find the plating wearing off...
