Our research lab is looking for an artist who can model a variety of kitchen tools that we'll be using as a dataset.

Currently, we have a list of specific object types (bread knife, chef's knife, etc.) and for each type we need around 15-25 models.

The models should be recognizable and consistent with real world examples, but should also capture a wide variety of styles.

The result for one object type would look something like this

You can find an existing dataset in similar spirit here:

If you can also produce sketches along the way it would be a plus, but not a requirement.

Send a message if you're interested, and we can discuss specific number of models and object types that fit your estimate and our budget.

Thanks

Hi,
This post reminded me of something that I created for a chef friend of mine.
Surprisingly I was able to dig this up.
Funny..... So I thought I would share this with the group.

Jeff

Thanks James. No word from this poster yet though. Not that I have heard anyway.
