
Subject: Hello Everyone!

Posted by srspicer on Tue, 01 Dec 2009 02:30:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Just signed up!

I am getting ready to try out G. Sketch up, and then up load a file of my own design. I have been a traditional model/pattern maker for over twenty five years and wish to try the printing process to see how much time and money it may save. It will be a learning process but I am willing!

I look forward to learning and sharing here!

Regards,

Scott

Subject: Re: Hello Everyone!

Posted by dadrummond on Tue, 01 Dec 2009 03:25:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Welcome! Happily, the technology is new enough (particularly metal printing) that we're all learning together.

Subject: Re: Hello Everyone!

Posted by joris on Tue, 01 Dec 2009 06:48:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Welcome to Shapeways!

Subject: Re: Hello Everyone!

Posted by magengar on Fri, 04 Dec 2009 20:23:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

just like this smiley right here sez, I'm green at this.
Just joined, thanks to bro' Zamani who does amazing work
you should check it out.

I'm an amature cg animation artist... my favorite 3D object of my obsession is Mazinger-Z (also known as Tranzor-Z here in the US). I'd like to try my hand at possibly making plastic body part templates of my Mazinger-Z 3D models for my own personal addition to my Mazinger toys and figures collection. I use Japanese 3D modelers DoGA CGA L3 and Metasequoia for my work. Attached is a jpeg sample of my models in DoGA's .suf format.

Looking forward to sharing my work here. Thanks!

zozo-Magengar

File Attachments

1) Koji_and_Mazinger.jpg, downloaded 146 times

Subject: Re: Hello Everyone!

Posted by magengar on Mon, 07 Dec 2009 16:35:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Man, this is gonna be addicting!

Some day I hope to print out my DoGACGA

"Mazinger-Z" 3D models...

I already have my own Mazinger action-figures collection; but I would like to own my very Own rendition of the character as an object I can actually hold in my bare hands!

zozo-Magengar

File Attachments

1) KojiKabuto-head_for_STL_printout.jpg, downloaded 139 times

Subject: Re: Hello Everyone!

Posted by kessy on Fri, 15 Jan 2010 12:10:47 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My self kessy i want to ask you how can i host theyahoo hosting. you know about that then please tell me.

Thanks.
