

---

Subject: Hi from Spain! First model here!
Posted by OneManBand on Fri, 30 Apr 2010 18:43:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Hello there! I heard of shapeways some weeks ago and I've finally decided to upload a model of mine and order it. It's not public for now, I just want to make sure that it's printable and does not break easily.

Here you got a rendered view of the object, is 10cm tall and is begging for help because he needs energy! Poor little robot!

Thanks for reading!

File Attachments

---

1) robot.jpg, downloaded 337 times

---

---

Subject: Re: Hi from Spain! First model here!
Posted by Youknowwho4eva on Sat, 01 May 2010 16:17:26 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I was in a 3D sculpture class in high school where I made a robot that looked nothing like this dude but was the same concept. He had a plug and was looking for an outlet. Are you having him made if color sandstone?

---

---

Subject: Re: Hi from Spain! First model here!
Posted by OneManBand on Sat, 01 May 2010 19:10:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

No, I'm not having it in full color because the walls are not thick enough for that; I'll stick with white strong & flexible and if everything turns out ok, maybe I'll try a color version

---