In order to get things in color, they have to be ordered in full-color sandstone. You should disable all other materials for things you need to be printed in color. You do not need to mark models as "having color" otherwise, so long as your color is in the model in a supported way (UV maps with VRML in a zip file, or VRML materials).

Ah, yes! We're now able to auto-detect colors in your models so we'e removed this checkbox. We updated our tutorial, thanks!
