I've noticed I'm getting e-mail notifications every time anyone posts in a topic I've replied to, even though, according to my profile, I've got forum notifications turned off. It's not a big deal for me, but I'm pretty sure that's not supposed to happen.

When you're making a reply, are you marking sure to uncheck the Post Notification option? If you have it turned off in your profile then you shouldn't have to do that, but maybe there is some bug by which the box gets checked anyway.

I'm not sure what's happening; it looks like I'm now not getting notifications, at least not for [i]all[i] threads I've replied to; and in replying here I notice the notification box is unchecked, like it should be. Maybe the problem's resolved itself, maybe it hasn't...
