
Subject: pendant arrived

Posted by unellenu on Wed, 01 Dec 2010 19:39:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Double Flower pendant / mini-sculpture arrived in 'transparent detail'.

File Attachments

- 1) 1Double_flower1.jpg, downloaded 297 times
 - 2) 1IMG_6531.1.jpg, downloaded 302 times
 - 3) 1IMG_6537.jpg, downloaded 298 times
 - 4) 1IMG_6534-2.jpg, downloaded 299 times
 - 5) Double Flower.wmv, downloaded 71 times
-

Subject: Re: pendant arrived

Posted by Youknowwho4eva on Wed, 01 Dec 2010 19:41:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

That second image is why I want glow in the dark material. Wonderful design.

Subject: Re: pendant arrived

Posted by unellenu on Wed, 01 Dec 2010 19:44:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks.

I can see what you mean about the glow in the dark look in the photo, and yes glow in the dark material would be cool!

Subject: Re: pendant arrived

Posted by LincolnK on Fri, 03 Dec 2010 06:21:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I would think you could order something in WSF, and dip it in a glow in the dark liquid that would soak up into it.

Subject: Re: pendant arrived
Posted by unellenu on Fri, 03 Dec 2010 08:26:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Great idea!
Sounds like that would work nicely.

Subject: Re: pendant arrived
Posted by Youknowwho4eva on Fri, 03 Dec 2010 13:27:57 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

novaking wrote on Fri, 03 December 2010 06:21I would think you could order something in WSF, and dip it in a glow in the dark liquid that would soak up into it.

If shapeways did this for me, I would order it every time.

Subject: Re: pendant arrived
Posted by Drawn-SteelHero on Fri, 03 Dec 2010 13:33:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

You know, I happen to have some glow in the dark acrylic. I'm going to have to check it out on one of my scrap pieces...

Beautiful pendant; the light playing through it gives a really nice effect.

Andy
