Hi All,

Newish to 3d design, but long term engineering background, some of the models on here are incredible,

I am interested in minature trains, cars etc

Have just placed an order for a switch prototype I have designed, gone for WSF,

John

Miniatures are in no short supply here, Jettuh has been making and selling trains as far back as I can remember being on Shapeways. And there are others like him. What kind of Engineering background do you have? Personally it's been my dream since middle school when we'd go to Baltimore every year for the Engineering challenge and bring home the gold.
