Hi,

I don't suppose it would be possible for split rings to be added to the combinatory manufacturing list. Split rings are those double wind rings that are used for most keyrings. 25mm would be a good size and they are quite cheap about Â£0.03-Â£0.05 (GBP) or less per unit depending upon quantity purchased.

Cheers,
Paul

I like that idea. I've got a few designs that would definitely work better as keyrings than necklaces or earrings.

I just picked up 100 nickel plated steel 25mm split rings for Â£4.07 ($6.61) from a store I pass 4 times a day running my kids to & from school
