My new Devout Agnostic Pendant arrived today. It looks great! The first one I designed was too expensive to order in metal, so I got it in WSF and painted it gold, but this one is in steel and is much better.

It looks perfect with the bronze finish. I don't exactly make a habit of wearing jewelry, but for this I may make an exception.

oh, nice....

there is always time to recant on one's deathbed.

I think the painted plastic adds a level of honesty to materials and concept.

Um thanks?

Honestly, I'm not sure just how to take any of that.
