About me: I've been in the engineering field since 6th grade when my middle school had an Engineering club where we'd go to Baltimore to compete (we killed the competition)

Expertise: Solids modeling.

Experience: Metal castings and plastic injection molding

Portfolio: I don't really have one, you can check out my shop. And for this post I'm gearing towards this item here silver ring

Rate: I'd like to do items like this. For an item like this (cubic zirconium stone) $100. If you want a diamond you'll have to buy that up front. Designing this ring I built up some good knowledge of how to make things work in silver. I would like to do other jewelry, those prices would be based on complexity. Same thing with the ring, $100 is the base price for a simple elegant band. Contact me for more details at youknowwho4eva@gmail.com.
