
Subject: Hello :-)

Posted by Andrea_Tarabella on Wed, 10 Aug 2011 18:55:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hello

I'm Andrea, i love to drawing and 3dSculpting.

I am italian, so, my english is not so good

The last year,me and my girlfriend decided to project a Table Game, something like a tactic rpg. We designed character, rules, places, monsters, but one day, we tryed to make the character in a 2d software and printing them in something like little rectangular paper, but that doesn't work. Now thanks to shapeways we are producing the characters in 3d with Zbrush, and some characters just arrived some days ago, we started to play for test the rules and all go Ok this is my gallery, i accept critique, please leave some of them if you want

<http://www.shapeways.com/shops/tarum>

Subject: Re: Hello :-)

Posted by Youknowwho4eva on Wed, 10 Aug 2011 18:58:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Welcome!

Wonderful models. What software do you use? When can we see the ones you received in the "It Arrived" section?

Subject: Re: Hello :-)

Posted by Andrea_Tarabella on Wed, 10 Aug 2011 19:06:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thank you Youknowwho

I bought a license of Zbrush one or two years ago, i use that software (some times with the zbrush export, shapeways make a preview image from the bottom)

So, now i am in Piemonte for some days, i live in the island of Sicily, when i go back to home i can do some decent photos... it's hard for me to do it with a model of , 3,5/ 4 cm

I did and order for the Army of Morr

http://www.shapeways.com/model/307689/army_of_morris.html?gid=rg

...i hope that that horrible green evil little creature arrive to my home soon

cheers
