Hi everyone,

I've been a 3d modeller since the 80's and I dont think I ever imagined that one day I'd be able to make my 3d objects "real".

So I've been really excited to watch the evolution of 3d printing and finding Shapeways is the final part of the puzzle.

I'm preparing a series of objects to print right now and I'm looking forward to feeling them in my hands.
