NOTE: I fully expect forum members to chime in and say how they expect Shapeways is using this term - I'm not interested in that. I am interested in what Shapeways themselves mean by this term.

For some while now, Shapeways has had this little 'Beta version' flag on its banner.

A while back, there was a post about this here. It never drew a response from anyone who works at Shapeways.

So I'd like to ask again.

What does Shapeways mean by 'Beta version'?
