Hi everyone,

Here are the details on this week's release:

- We fixed a bunch of errors in Internet Explorer 7. There are still a few issues, but we improved functionality for the product detail pages.
- We fixed a bug that was causing a few product detail pages to be rendered incorrectly.
- A lot of navigation URLs and labels have been changed to fit the new navigation structure of the site.
- The product detail page got a minor redesign, and it now has a Google +1 button.
- Community members who sign up via Twitter and Facebook will now be able to subscribe to our newsletter.

Looking forward to your feedback!

Best,
Ana

Ana

Thanks for the update, and I hope you had a nice holiday!

Liked your phrase;

"We fixed a bunch of errors in Internet Explorer 7"

That was something Microsoft had real trouble with!

Andrew

The menu under our pseudo (when we are logged) has been changed ("My shop" changed to "Manage Shop", "My Orders" to "Orders" etc.) except for the forum pages.
This is very usual when there is a menu update to forgot the forum pages: should be in your checklist...

[EDIT] The "forum" pages, not the "menu" pages, sorry. Fixed my text.

@ancientbuzzard Thanks, had a lovely vacation and its good to be back.

@Magic I'm not sure I follow. Can you screen cap it?

Sure.

Go to the menu under your name. The item list is different depending on where you are (forum or out of the forum, like on the homepage for instance).

Here is the screenshot:

Hope this helps.

I see what you mean now. Thanks Magic!

We've filed a bug report for this.
