

---

Subject: raymond

Posted by fabricboi on Wed, 14 Dec 2011 20:11:25 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

hi how are y'all I am an arts major and a ceramic student my class is doing a tea and coffee set for class the teacher said the finish project can be done trad way by using molds or modern way as in 3d printing like to do a 3d modern aspect in porcelain but I like cups and pieces that are supposed to be cast by using liquid slip such as soup tureens and covered veg dishes

I can get decorated pieces to model after

---

---

Subject: Re: raymond

Posted by ana on Thu, 15 Dec 2011 20:34:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Welcome! Cool that your teacher is letting you run with whichever method you prefer.

Which school do you go to?

---