hello fellow shapers !

although i do some 3d stuff for some years, i never had something printed out, but i am curious for your experiences especially the ceramic material has my interest, did you try it already?

i also have a starters question

- how do i download a free model form this site to experiment with?

regards,

paul

Paul,

Welcome. I love the ceramic although I've never had one of my models printed in it. Working on that. There are models that have a icon on them when they are downloadable. It's a blue icon with a down arrow.

thank you Mike, for the download explanation.

the ceramic material will be the first that i try i think.

btw. it would be great when one could apply glazing in several colours ...

cheers,

paul

hi Stefani88,

a warm welcome from me i also 'just arrived' at Shapeways and i started this particular thread a few days ago

to answer your question, this is the right forum to introduce yourself, but you should start a new thread (click 'new topic' at the bottom of the page of this forum) because i think your arrival might go unnoticed now have a good time

paul
