Hi, I'm happy you like the models, we will gradually rise more. I just received the printed yak house, is fantastic, in a few days i upload the photos of the model.

in terms of space invaders, yesterday I made a request for them to see if it works. I'll tell you.

a pleasure, see you in the forums.

The problem is where the corners touch. Close enough to fuse, but such a small area that they'll break, so the manual inspection should result in failure. You'll either have to separate them or joint them stronger

Hi, I attached a picture where you can see how I did the corners. I think in this way will not break.
