Hi,

A client of mine is considering using Shapeways to print a fairly large number of helicopter models (~30 or so), each one is medium-high detail, and approx. 7-8 in long.

Will this kind of printing job cause extra lead time? Would it be better to have the models combined into a single job?

Thanks

If you combine them, the models still have to fit in the max bounding box. No extra lead time should be required.
