Could you go into a little more detail as to the nature of the parts, the scope of the project, the deadline, and the amount you are looking to pay?

I am not sure. To be completely honest i am not sure what a pro mod is. So that kind of info would help me. Also, how many parts plays a factor, how complex are the parts? those are the kinds of things i would need to know please.

Okay so which parts are you looking for? Im sorry i am not car savvy, so i have no idea which parts im supposed to be looking at. And are the parts supposed to be separate, as in you need to be able to assemble them yourself, or are they all one piece, like you want to glue this to a matchbox car to make it look cooler.

Okay that once piece looks simple enough, but i cannot give you any kind of estimate on price or time unless i get to look at all the things you want me to make. Is this something you want done piece by piece or is there a number of objects you want created all at once?
