

---

Subject: Are the variables stored in shapeways?

Posted by skatersollie on Sun, 18 Mar 2012 22:33:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I was just looking into this and is probably what i've been looking for...it thought it was something different...by the name of the title.. I thought it was a collaboration of designs by many different designers. when in reality it's a template design interface...So basically it's where the designer models and places certain variables that the customer may select.. Are the variables stored in the shapeways database or does the customer specify and then models are reuploaded by the designer..The main feature i'd use is for scaling different sizes and colors...I guess the best way to find out is just try it out myself..

---