Should I add some more texture and have it in color sandstone ...or make it into a plastic and minaturize it and have others paint in the details? I was going to have it in ceramic glaze..but I don't think it's an option because of the collar. I wanted it to be free moving but doesn't come off the head....maybe having the collar in plastic could be another option...but then again the collar won't be in color...What do you guys think any opinions?
