I know there are a lot of Green Lantern designs on here, but I wanted something a little different, so I designed what I call a Power Seeping Ring. Like I say in the item description, the idea was that the ring is in use so that power is flowing out of it. I'm not the best 3D Modeler, but I had some experience, so I took a go at it. I'm sure it can be done better, but I'm rather satisfied with it. I thought maybe I'd share it with you guys, see what you thought of it. My blue lantern design arrived today.

I only designed the green lantern and blue lantern rings so far, but I do plan to do the entire spectrum eventually.

What do you guys think? Here's my shop:

I can't afford better materials, so I have only bought the White Strong and Flexible so far. Take a look:
