Hello Shapeways!

I was searching the net for some forums dealing with medical modeling, but it's not too popular of a subject. This brought me to Shapeways!

I'm an architect by profession and a 3D modeler for over 10 years.

I wonder if there is a practical way of delving into the medical modeling field and if it is possible for an architect to bite into that at all.

I use MAX, REVIT and RHINOCEROS for modeling quite actively.

If you have a few minutes to spare, please let me know what you think.

Thanks
